COLLEGE REPORTS

a. PRESIDENT'S REPORT

Summer happenings.

Ryslingle reported that OCCC Navigate program was active in extensive outreach with Lincoln County high school students and parents. Retention phone calls were again made, reaching out to students that took classes in Spring but have not yet enrolled for Fall. We have 14 new OCCC Scholars and 5 continuing from last year. New Oregon Promise was explained. Ryslingle provided an update on meetings with the LCSD Superintendent about partnering, and Dean Lara provided an update on his meetings with LCSD regarding Dual Credit.

Summer media coverage.

Ryslingle expressed her delight in all the media that was released about the college over the summer. There was coverage almost every week. There were many articles about the new Workforce Education Resiliency Center. OCCC was included in much of the media about the Eclipse and SOAR Project that took place at the college. There was also media coverage on the work that Dave Price and Dr. Flores are doing with offering small business development curriculum in Spanish. Commissioner Doug Hunt is excited that SBDC is assisting with the economic development of the Spanish community.

Other Information

Ryslingle informed the Board enrollment is steady, and Dual Credit enrollment is up. Ryslingle updated the Board about the grant application with the Meyer Memorial Trust: Rural Teacher Education Pipeline. The project is a four-year teacher education and early childhood collaborative project to assist Lincoln and Tillamook County residents to enter the teaching workforce. We should hear about the approval of this grant early November. Dean Lara and President Ryslingle presented information about the Grant to the LCSD School Board where the efforts were extremely well received. Ryslingle also informed the board about support from the Centro de Ayuda and the Confederated Tribes of Siletz Indians for the Meyers Memorial Trust Grant. The college has surpassed 2,500 Facebook friends as reported to the President by Dave Price.

b. CoFO REPORT

Gintner reported there are no financials to discuss due to being in the interim period with the year being closed and the finance department is currently doing the audit prep. The auditors will be coming six weeks earlier – the first week of the term. Gintner handed out a survey form the auditors asked for the board to complete and return.
