

Oregon Coast Community
College Foundation
is proud to present:

Bi-

This presentation is brought to you as part of the Williams Lecture Series, funded through donations to the OCCC Foundation. The fund was initially established by Wendy Williams in honor of her late husband, William Appleman Williams, in order to "provide a forum, an opportunity to bring individuals to the campus that will challenge received opinion, stimulate discussion among students and in the community at large, and introduce new ideas, whether intellectual or practical."

The 2018 tour of Bi- is made possible in part by the Juan Young Trust, Oregon Arts Commission, EC Brown Foundation, Bloomfield Family Foundation, Templeton Foundation, Cow Creek Umpqua Indian Foundation, Carpenter Foundation and the Ventura Group Inc.

What is your bi-dentity?

The year is 2089 in Tierra Plana, a new nation where individual categories are pre-determined. Four friends, Fig, Noir, Isa, and Hex, escape the walls and discover mysteries of the past left in boxes from the U.S. Census Bureau. This new bilingual play explores space and perspective, drawing inspiration from Edwin Abbot's book Flatland.
