Newsletter November/December 2025

NATIVE AMERICAN HERITAGE MONTH

All through November we will be displaying books by and about indigenous people in the United States and their history with a focus on tribes native to Oregon.

Take a look at our word search on the back of this newsletter and see if you can find all of the languages spoken by ancestors of the Native Oregonians who are members of the Confederated Tribes of Siletz Indians and the language that is spoken and taught by the tribe today, Siletz Dee-ni.

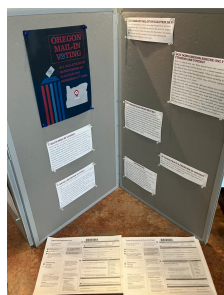

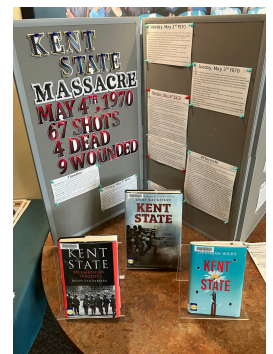

MENTAL HEALTH READS

Thank you to everyone who has participated in our first reading campaign. Participants can still read and earn contest entries up until Wednesday, November 26th. Winners will be announced in Canvas and on the Library webpage on Monday, December 1st. We will begin another Mental Health Reads campaign for Winter Term, starting on Friday, December 5th. See the Library website the week of December 5th for more information.

KENT STATE MASSACRE DISPLAY

Throughout November and December we will display items and information on the causes and aftermath of the Kent State Massacre that happened on May 4th, 1970. An event where the Ohio National Guard shot 67 bullets into a crowd of students, most of which were protesting the Vietnam War and the appearance of the Guard on campus.

OREGON MAIL-IN VOTING DISPLAY

All through November and December we will be displaying information on the most commonly asked questions about Oregon's mail-in voting law. Voter registration forms in English and Spanish are also available for those who are not yet registered to vote.

MENTAL HEALTH READS

All through the rest of November and December we will be displaying books by the Library Services window from the three categories in our Mental Health Reads Campaign:

- Cozy Books
- Mental Health
- Veteran Memoirs

This display will be updated with new titles as we roll out our Winter Term Mental Health Reads campaign in December.
